On the eighth day of next month the representatives of the Baptist church of the south, and of the other churches of the south, will meet in convention in this city. It is estimated that the convention will bring here not less than 2,000 delegates and visitors. The Convention will convene on the morning of the eighth at an eight-page paper that will be just as large as the paper now published. We propose to print in this great convention a number of articles that will fully illustrate the state of the church. We therefore desire to write up the names and addresses of those who will attend the convention, and of those who will be present during the next ten days, with propositions that must prove mutually satisfactory.

The Constitution.

ATLANTA, GA., APRIL 29, 1879.

The trial of the assassin of Judge Elliott began yesterday at Frankfort.

The people want no scaling of the duty on quinine. They want the iniquitous tax abolished.

The senate will now wrestle with the legislative appropriation bill, and Mr. Conkling will have another opportunity of unweaving his ambrosial cloak.

Mr. Hayes can forget for a moment that the republican party is the government, he will be well on his way toward the solution of what may, at first glance, appear to be a very difficult problem.

The probability is that the legislative appropriation bill will not be considered in the senate before next Thursday— which will give Logan and Zachary Chandler ample time to collect their artillery together.

It should be known that Simon Bolivar Conover, the distinguished carpet-bag senator from Florida, is now an inmate of the coast of Florida.

This bill of Mr. Warner, of Ohio, to be favorably reported upon by Mr. Stephens' committee of coinage, weights and measures, re-establishes the bimetallic standard of value, provides for coinage of bullion for the benefit of the owner, and makes trade dollars exchangeable for legal-tender dollars at the mints. Altogether, it is a good bill.

This Grant party were invited to a tiger hunt in India, but in defense to a well-known American custom, they stand in their bungalows and played polo. It is said that the enthusiasm of Mr. Borie, when he is drawing to fill a bottle of wine, is really entrancing. Upon these exciting occasions, Mr. John Russell Young clings to the neck of the demijohn and beams impartially upon all.

It was yesterday decided by the supreme court that a force charged with the law providing a test oath in the federal courts cannot be compelled to state under oath his disqualifications. This opinion was rendered by Justice Miller. Justice Field went even further, and in language, the strongest that could be used upon the bench, denounced the act providing the test oath for jurors as unconstitutional and void.

The current number of the North American Review contains an article on "Our Election Laws," written by Secretary McCrary. From this article it appears that Georgia is one of the seven states that have no registry laws, and that she is also one of the four that "continue" the vicious practice of permitting an election to be held anywhere in the county of the residence. The other states that give a voter the choice of precincts in his county are Arkansas, California and Oregon.

Ask now what will the gas companies do about it? Mr. Edison has secured his patents for dividing and controlling the electric light, and to those who have not taken out naturalization papers as scientists, the affair looks like a great success. The scientists, it will be remembered, made all their predictions of the failure of the magnum of Menlo park on the supposition that, in making his lights, he would use the voltaic arc; but Mr. Edison's first movement was to dispense with the carbon points and the voltaic arc, and in doing this, he disposed of the scientists. This appears to be cruel, but it is not.

Convention Week.

Instead of two conventions, we are to have next week no less than four. On Monday the editors of the medical journals of America will meet, and on the same day the national board of health will begin its sessions. Both of these conventions will be strong in influential men and even in numbers. The number of medical journals is more than twenty, and the non-professional man may suppose. The meeting of the national board of health will also be largely attended. The secretary of war has designated three army surgeons to attend them, as well as those of the larger convention of the following day, and the state boards of health will come from the Memphis meeting prepared to give the national board timely and valuable information. The Mississippi valley is fully aroused to the necessity of immediate action in the matter of preventing another yellow fever epidemic. On Tuesday the American medical association will begin its sessions with something near six hundred of the best known and most capable surgeons and physicians of this country and Canada in attendance. This association is to the medical profession what the whole is to the other fishes of the sea. On Wednesday the Southern Baptist convention will be convened. The number of its delegates will exceed five hundred. The city will be crowded all the week with representative men, and with hundreds, if not thousands, of visitors from all parts of our own state, who will utilize the occasion by making purchases that cannot be made at home. It will be a harvest to our business men, and a season of hospitality all around.

The Coleman Case.

In another column we present a review of a case that has culminated in lodging a murderer in McPherson barracks under very exceptional circumstances. He was tried by a court-martial and sentenced to be shot. He had committed a most atrocious crime—the only one in dispute relates to the manner in which he shall execute his guilt. The state of Tennessee, through a decision of her highest court, claimed the transgressor of her violated law, although at the time of the commission of the crime he was a federal soldier, and a court-martial had ordered him to be shot. He escaped before the sentence of the court-martial could be carried out, and when he was rearrested the war was over. A conflict between the state and federal courts over the case ensued—the result being a decision of the United States supreme court, by the terms of which Coleman was handed over to the hands of the state. The public service that sentenced him to be shot is reasonable to suppose that so diabolical a murder will be properly atoned for. As the case stands nothing can prevent the execution of the long-deferred sentence except a presidential pardon—which will probably be withheld if the facts of the case are looked into.

The opinion of the court of last resort was delivered by Mr. Justice Field, and it does not appear that there was any dissenting opinion. It is based upon the fact that the war had taken territorial proportions, the instrument having become too important to be recognized as a belligerent. Tennessee was one of the insurgent states, and the right to govern it followed as an incident of war. The military tribunals of the occupying belligerent were therefore supreme. Hence the sentence of Coleman by the court-martial was in legal and binding upon all concerned. The United States circuit court for Tennessee proposed to discharge the prisoner but the court of review held that he should pass from the custody of the sheriff to that of the nearest military commander, "to be dealt with as required by law."

The True Inwardness of the Exodus.

The first thought that can occur to any reflecting person, either in the north or in the south, in connection with the negro exodus that has been going on in Louisiana and Mississippi, is that the whole movement is unnatural. The negro has been driven from his home by the planters; grant that he has been bullied by certain cowardly ruffians; grant those things, and still you have not the incentive to this sudden movement. For it cannot be possible that the mistreatment and the bulldozing has been growing worse rather than less—otherwise the people of Louisiana and Mississippi are men whom it would be gross injustice to call human. That the ill and abuses of carpet-bag government have led certain head-headed and irresponsible men to wreak vengeance upon the unfortunate negroes has never been denied, and so far as the cause of the exodus is concerned, has never been palliated; but that such crimes have ever reached the dimensions charged by the organs all sensible people know to be false. Granting, however, that there has been mistreatment and bulldozing, we repeat it is utterly impossible that there has been any increase in such outrages. There is not the shadow of excuse for them, and to believe that they are frequent enough in Louisiana and Mississippi to cause the flight of the three thousand negroes who have thus far joined the exodus movement is to believe that the white people of that section are a set of brutes. It is impossible to account for the exodus upon the theory that the negroes are driven out by the treatment of the whites; indeed, it is impossible to account for it except upon the hypothesis that the movement has its inspiration among the republican leaders at the north, who have made it profitable both as a political and as a pecuniary investment. Mr. Windom led the way; Ingalls followed suit; negro leaders were served with circulars; the Chancellors established their high pressure emigration aid bureau, and the work was done. Without money without friends, the victims of the most outrageous form of party villainy ever known, the negroes were induced to embark for a country of which they knew absolutely nothing. At St. Louis they disembarked and here the programme of the knaves who had planned the movement took shape. The condition of the negroes was pitiable. They had no food, no friends, no money and little clothing. Their situation was such as to demand the liveliest manifestations of charity, both public and private, and it was promptly forthcoming. This was the signal for the wretches who were at the bottom of the movement, and the "National Emigration Aid Society" was organized.

The True Inwardness of the Exodus.

It is only necessary to run over the list of the corporations of this concern to be convinced of its purposes, and it is only necessary to remember the weakness of the colored race to know that its plans will succeed provided public charity is as large as the republicans hope to make it. Since the day of emancipation, the negro has developed a fondness for free railways which amounts to a mania. Within two weeks from today, by an act of the legislature, a railroad that a free, but bareheaded, negro, who can draw to Atlanta every idle negro in Georgia. If the charitable contributions to the negroes already in Kansas are such as the prospects seem to warrant, the entire state will be overrun with impetuous negroes in less than six months, and the suffering will be increased in a like ratio until the common sense of the people call a halt, and then the negroes will struggle back to their old homes or be left to succumb to the hardships of a Kansas winter. Looking over the ground carefully, the exodus and its causes may be briefly summed up as follows:

The True Inwardness of the Exodus.

1. It has its origin in the hopes of the republicans to create such disturbances of population in the south previous to the next census enumeration as to deprive this section of a portion of its congressional representation, and decrease the number of its electoral voters.

The True Inwardness of the Exodus.

2. The purposes of the republican leaders in originating the movement are twofold. They not only desire to cripple the south in the matter of representation, but they desire to make their intended sympathy for the negro an excuse for robbing him still further. It is their purpose to become the almoners of the charity which is to be extended to the sufferers, and out of this, as well as out of the commissions which they will exact from negroes who are able to pay, they hope to fill their pockets.

The True Inwardness of the Exodus.

Altogether, it is a most outrageous and inhuman scheme, and it will fail. It is safe to say that all the bulldozing which has been credited to the south by the most vicious and lying of the organs has not created a tithe of the suffering and disaster that is now being inflicted upon the unfortunate negroes who are now appearing to the humanity of the public in Kansas.

The True Inwardness of the Exodus.

As we have stated before in these columns, this question of charity, whether it be public or private, is a practical one. It should be judicious, and should be dispensed by those who have real sympathy for the negro—otherwise the occasion which calls for it will be extended and aggravated, and the suffering which it is intended to relieve will be increased tenfold. We repeat it is better that there should be suffering among three thousand than that twenty, or fifty, or a hundred thousand recruits should be added to the sufferers.

Burns' Hays, in a speech in Boston the other day, said he would let the great many of negro outrages, but intimated that it wouldn't be healthy for him to do so. Isn't Haven doing himself and the colored people injustice by suppressing what he calls his "stories"?

ROUNDABOUT IN GEORGIA.

—Fifty colored people were baptized in Thomasville by immersion last Sunday.

—"Disie" is a stirring old tune, and for the matter of that, so is "Yankee Doodle."

—Bill Arp had a regular ovation in Macon. They say Bill practices around among the girls just like a bolt in a barley patch.

—The dwelling house of Mr. James

Young, of York county, was burned recently, together with nearly all the contents.

The loss is $2,000.

—We warn the editor of the Forsyth Advertiser that he cannot now receive from the position which he has boldly taken in favor of the value and efficiency of the Georgia dog.

—All this ruckus in the DeKalb County

News in favor of the dogs is the most natural result in the world. J. Carter's sweatshirt is the proprietor of a lovely

Mexican poodle.

—The Fort Valley Mirror says a fifteen-year-old son of Mr. W. B. Davis, of Crawford county, was killed while hunting a bear.

—It seems that the bear was getting over a rail fence, and the top rail turned with him, the hammer of his gun caught and fired the gun, the entire charge

entering his left breast and killing him instantly.

—According to Bill Arp's chat with the Macon people, the Macon Telegraph says:

The whole lecture abounded in a humor peculiar to the great Georgia humorist, which was smiles and expressions of approval at very frequent intervals from the audience, and when a passage of fine sentiment or beauty blossomed into view amid its sprightly soundings of humor the appreciation of the audience was not wanting, and displayed itself in hearty applause.

—The Columbus Enquirer is informed by a Talbot county gentleman that about 12 o'clock last Thursday night, a male infant,

about three weeks old, was left on the porch of the residence of Miss Sabra Nixon, and her sister, Mrs. Nixon's daughter, a citizen

JOHN KEELY'S

SPRING ANNOUNCEMENT---1870

NO ROASTBAST! No "PETER FENSMITH." But a simple statement as to the quantity of goods which he has to offer: Their Quality, and the extraordinary low prices at which he is enabled to sell them. As to how and where he bought them, it is too long a story; and too uninteresting to one he is able to fulfill it upon them. So "To the subject proper."

I have just returned from New York, having spent the past few weeks there, and from the various sources whence they came, I have the pleasure to place before the public the largest and cheapest, as well as the most desirable stock of Dry Goods, Shoes, Gent's Furnishing Goods, and Boys' Ready-Made Clothing ever offered in Atlanta. Prominently amongst this magnificent stock will be found the following, viz:

THE FOLLOWING GOODS WERE
Black Silks,	Colored Silks,	Boots and Shoes.		Carpets.	Carpets.
Domestic Silks, Domestic Dress Goods, Lining Dress Goods, Lining Fur Cloaks, Linen from Leam, Linen from Larn, French and India Wool Noddies and Ties, Children's Hosiery, Underwear and Infants' Robes.	French Dress Goods, Elegant Greenstuffs, Prized Linen Lawns, China Linen, French and India Wool Noddies and Ties, Children's Hosiery, Underwear and Children's Dresses.	LADIES' SHOES. MISSIE'S SLIPPERS. GENTS' BOOTS. CHILDREN'S SHOES. GENTS' GROOMS. WAGGERS.	LADIES' SLIPPERS, MISSIE'S SLIPPERS, GENTS' BOOTS, GENTS' LOW CUT SHOES	Ambulatory Carpets, Rug Brussels Carpets, Fly Carpets, Low Grade Carpets, Cocoa Mattings, Lynum for Floors, Lace Curtains, Wall Paper.	Mouquet Carpets, Tapestry Brussels Car- pets, Flemish Carpets, China Mattings, Floor Oil Cloths, Lambrocks, and doos.
WHICH WE HAVE NOW ON HAND AND EXCELLED IN THE STATE.

Dress Goods!

In this Department, great care has been bestowed upon the purchase of the stock under its head. I offer, amongst innumerable other things—
 2,500 yards Colored Bunting (genuine), 10c. yard; 3,700 yards colored Bunting (genuine), 12½c. yard; 1,250 yards Colored Bunting (genuine), 10c. yard; Every variety in plain Bunting, best quality; Every novelty in Lace Striped Bunting, best quality; Everything new in Figure Bunting, best quality.
 3,000 yards Plain Black Grenadines, at from 10c. to 50c. yard, embracing the best silk and wool goods; 1,200 yards silk and wool Grenadines, colored, best grades made, 50c. yard, worth $1.25; 1,500 yards of fancy Black Grenadines, in Damses, tufted, Perings, and other styles. Prices low.

[illegible]

Blue, pearl color and white French Mairs for Wedding purposes; Dress Goods of all grades, from 8c. a yard up to $5 per yard.
 5,000 yards of beautiful new-style Wash Poplins, 4,500 yards of the best and handsomest 12½c. dress goods in America. But why attempt to particularize, when such a task would be endless where the variety is so great.

In this line I defy any merchant south of Mason and Dixon's Line to show one-half the stock, and to come within 50 per cent. of my prices. Here, a few of my prices. Match them who can: 150 all silk Parasols, at 50c. each, worth $1; 211 all silk Parasols, at 50c. each, worth $5; 250 all silk Parasols, at 60c. and 65c. each, worth $1; 300 Twilled silk Parasols, large size, $1 and $1.25 each; 150 best quality boiled silk Parasols, 50c. each; 300 best quality boiled silk Parasols, extra size, 55c. to $1 each—positively half price; Novelties in Shell-handled Parasols; Novelties in Pearl-handled Parasols; Novelties in Ribbon-handled Parasols.

EMBROIDERIES! EMBROIDERIES! EMBROIDERIES!

40,000 yards of Hamburg Edgings and Insertions actually in stock at the moment of this writing, and not one of them but stands high above the rest of all competition at the prices marked.

And it all comes from a heavy failure in Brooklyn. That lot from a peremptory auction sale, at which there were none of the handsome buyers from northern and eastern cities, whose competition at these sales has the effect of running everything up to the last cent it will stand.

I have cleared Hamburg Edgings, 3/4 of a yard wide, for flouncing, &c. of the finest grade made, which I will sell for less than some houses ask for

I have the finest grades known to the trade in Hamburg Edgings, in every variety of width, from $\frac{3}{4}$ of a yard down to $\frac{1}{2}$ inch wide, and in every possible gradation of width and quality. Now, I did not pay as much as half price for a single one of these goods, and, as I will sell them at a small advance, I cannot have successful competition in this class of goods. No such line of Hamburgs is on exhibition at retail to-day in New York City!

"Bargains" that are "bargains" speak louder than empty "puffs." Unquestionably the largest and handsomest line of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Hosiery which I have ever seen in Georgia, embracing everything new in White and Fancy Infants' Cotton Socks and $\frac{3}{4}$ Hose, Ladies' and Misses' Work

N. B.—No such a Stock of Hosiery Will be Found Anywhere Else in this Market.

ity, 10c. pair. Ladies' Colored Kid 2 Tons, good gloves. 35c. pair; 50c. 7 c., $1.00 and 1.25 for the very best French Kid Gloves, such as usually sell for $2.00. Ladies' Colored Lisle, with lace tips; Ladies' Black and Colored Lace Mitts, long, from 50c. a pair up to the finest grade. Everything in 3, 4 and 5 Button White and Opera Kids, cheaper than ever before.

These Departments are Simply Perfect in Detail, and a Pleasure to Customers to Inspect Them.

Cassimeres and Linens for Mens and Boys Wear. 1,500 yards good Boy's Cassimeres, 10c, yard. 1,250 yards excellent Cassimeres, 12½c, yard. 1,000 yards good Cassimeres, 10c, yard. 800 yards beautiful Cassimeres, 20c, yard. 2,000 yards of the best 3c Cassimere in Georgia. 1,800 yards of the prettiest best Cassimeres, for 30 cents per yard, to be found anywhere. 5,000 yards of fine Cassimeres from 6c. to 1.25, embracing Harris's and Harrison's in new designs. 1,500 yards good Linen Pants Drill, 10c, yard worth 20. 1,500 yards of the best 12½c. Linen Pants Drill in the state. Best grades of Linen Pants Drill proportionately low. Broadcloths, blue double width Yacht Cloths, Worsted Coatings, etc., in great variety.

Mourning Department.—In this department will be found choice lines of black Bombazines and Henrietta Cloths, Byzantine Cloth, Australian Crapes

SPECIAL BARGAINS!--WINDFALLS! PICKED UP ANY AND EVERYWHERE!

1,500 Ladies' Linen Suits, warranted half price. New choice Goods, 1,200 Misses' and Children's white and colored fine Pique Suits, one-third their value. 1,300 beautiful Gingham Wrappers, at less than ever before. 2,000 of the prettiest Aprons ever shown in Atlanta. In Calico, Percale, French Cambric, striped and checked Vainsook, Plaid, and every variety of fabric, 1,200 yards 54 and and even you may see them from 7 to 10 cents each yard. Three times as many as you can find elsewhere.
64 ladies' fine White Cloth, the Worlcraft fine, wt., 5-8 each yard, worth 50 to 75, 100 pieces Double Width Power Loom Coating Linens, 15 and 22 yd, and 100 pieces of 1-3/4 wide double Width Bleached Table Damask, 54 inch wide, worth 50.

Not one of the goods embraced under this head would have been purchased by me in such quantities, but for the price. A long story attaches to each of many articles in this list, but no use to bother with that. Here are the Goods, and here are the prices. You cannot find them elsewhere.

FANCY GOODS DEPARTMENT.

In this line my stock has never been so complete, nor so inviting. No effort has been spared to make the assortment "first class." My line of Infants' Laced Shoes, Buttoned Shoes, Ankle Ties, Slippers, etc., is perfect in Black Bronze, Gold and Silver, Pearl, and mixed Leathers, while my Misses and Ladies' Shoes, Misses and Ladies' Newport Ties, Ladies' 3 and 4 Strap Slippers, extra fine Kid Buttoned and Laced Shoes, Cloth Shoes made in Kid and Goat foxing, fine French Kid and Goat Shoes of every cut and finish, etc. No shoe house in New York can show a more beautiful assortment.
